ROMANCE

SOUTHEAST HIGH SCHOOL
KANSAS CITY, MISSOURI

Alma Mater

Where Knights, Squires, Heralds, Pages and Apprentice Pages Receive Their Training

Foreword

The community has always played an important part in the life of the individual. In the days of the old manor, the community was small, consisting of the various manor buildings and fields. Because of the confines of their manors, these people of old had little opportunity to develop a true spirit of co-operation and fellowship among men.

Today, when communities are more complex and varied, co-operation has become the key-note of success and happiness. In our churches, homes, schools, and industries, there is a feeling of fellowship and understanding among parents and children, teachers and students, and the employer and his employees. This sense of oneness is characteristic of the Southeast community. We are truly proud of our community.

Dedication

We dedicate this annual to our parents who have provided us with all the opportunities for a rich, full life. Their loving care, unfailing sympathy, and generous understanding have brought us to this hour. In this issue of the Crusader, we wish to express to them our love and our appreciation.

In Memoriam

MR. SIDNEY J. LASLEY

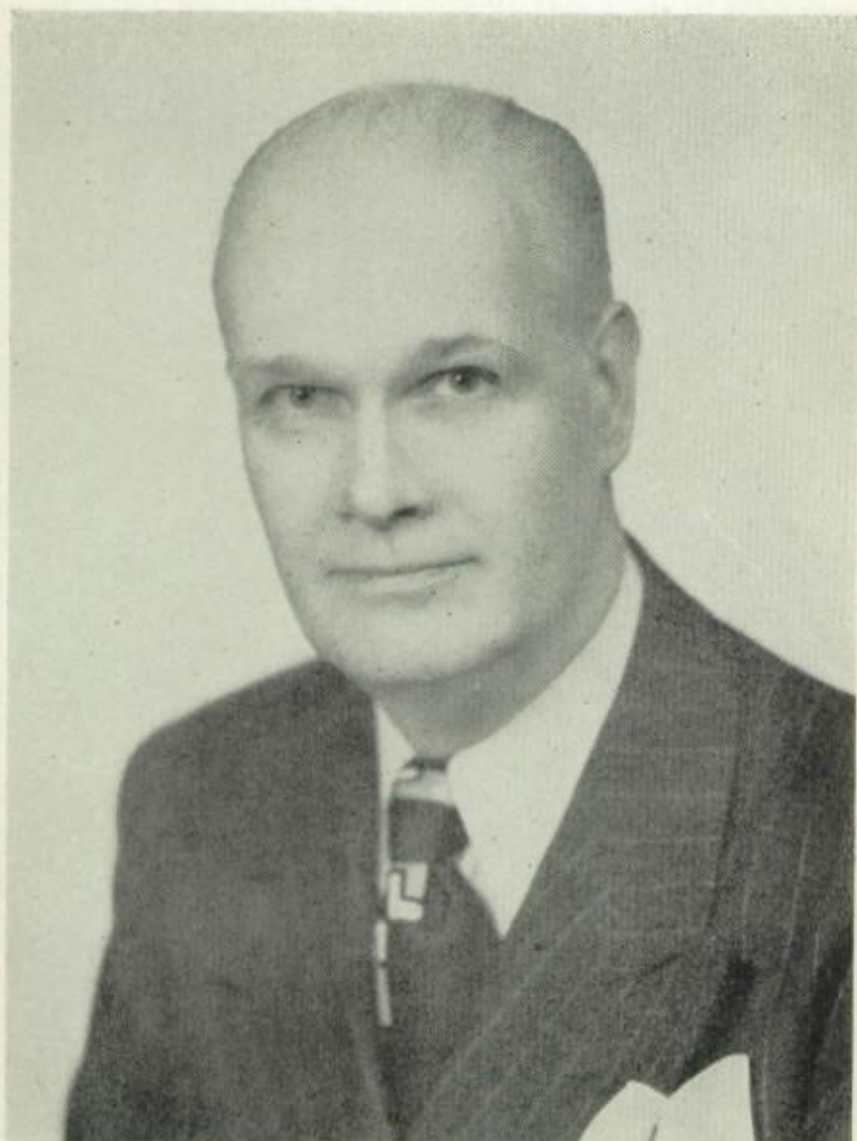

In the death of Mr. Sydney J. Lasley, Southeast lost one of its staunchest, most loyal friends. His kind understanding and jolly good humor, endeared him to the hearts of many. As faculty editor of the Crusader, he helped to prepare much of this year's annual before his unexpected death on November 4, 1948. He was coach of the tennis team as well as an instructor in algebra and applied mathematics. Mr. Lasley was employed as teacher at Southeast since September of 1942, and through the years he proved himself capable and dependable in the many tasks he undertook. He is greatly missed but the fine influence he exerted will long remain and be remembered.

In The Manor House . . .

under its lofty Tower, the dwellers therein—Knights and Ladies, Squires and Maids, Heralds, Pages, Apprentice Pages, and their Guildmasters—work together for the continual good of the House.

Faculty and Students

MR. HARRY R. McMILLAN, Principal

The time has come to bid farewell to another class of graduates. We wish each of you well as you set out upon your pursuit of success in life with the reward of Heaven at the end. Each Knight and Lady may be likened to the travelers in an old legend. It is said that late one night they encountered an old man upon the bank of a small stream. Before they walked through the shallow waters, the kindly old man said, "Pick up pebbles from the bed of this stream and you shall be both glad and sorry." To humor their new acquaintance, each one carelessly thrust some pebbles into his pockets. Near the end of their travels they found the pebbles to be precious stones. They were glad they had them, but very sorry they had gathered so few.

In like manner, the graduates of 1949 will be glad they gathered the happy talents of character and academic training while in Southeast High School but sorry they did not make greater effort to gather more. We hope our graduates will assist parents and teachers in convincing those who enter high school that worthwhile achievement comes only as a reward for honest work.

GEORGE POWELL

Dear Seniors:

Because you are serious, ambitious, tolerant, idealistic, and desirous of participating in the affairs of the present day world, you will not ask "What can be done?" Instead, you will ask, "What should be done?" Your answer will be "Let's do it."

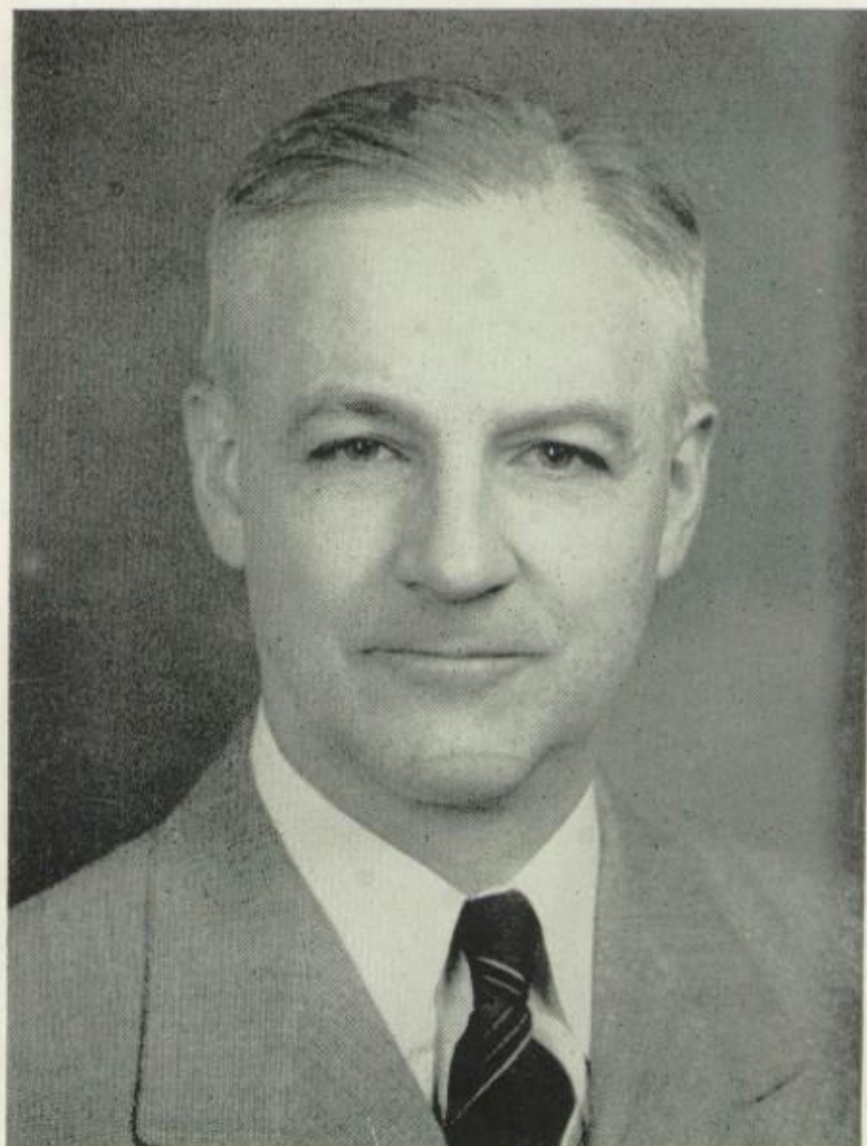

The suffering and sacrifices of two World Wars remain unjustified. Our social age lags behind the scientific age in which we live. Hatred, fear, conflict, and crime threaten our culture. The nations of the world are still unacquainted, suspicious of each other, and divided. Democracy, with its opportunities, rights, freedoms, and duties, needs revitalization. Leadership is needed in the new era into which we are advancing.

Just as democracy could not have been born out of all the economic and industrial developments of the past except as men respected the individual and safeguarded his human rights, so solutions to problems confronting you will be in direct proportion to the emphasis which you and thousands of other graduates of high school and college place upon the individual and his human rights.

Your heritage includes "One Nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all." Will you pass on to the next generation "One World indivisible, with liberty and justice for all?"

Best wishes to each of you.

We, the graduating class of '49, are leaving Southeast with a feeling of anticipation as well as one of sorrow. Our future place in the world is awaiting fulfillment and we are anxious to attain success. During our four years as students of Southeast High School, we have developed a sincere loyalty to our Castle. We salute you, Southeast, for assisting us in our achievements and we sincerely hope that our faults have been forgiven.

Our academic and social training, which we have received these past years, is now ready to be put into practical use. The judgment and initiative we display in making our decisions will determine our prosperity. We go forth, not only as citizens of the United States, but as citizens of the world in this new era. We realize to some extent the duties and privileges this places upon us and we hope we are qualified to accept the challenge.

Southeast Alphabet

A is for annual,
Southeast's delight;
When it's all finished,
What a wonderful sight.

B is for books
That we study all year,
But we don't learn the half
Of their contents, I fear.

C is for colors
Our own red and blue
Symbol of Southeasters
That's me and that's you.

D is for dogs
That wander to school
Seeking their masters
And breaking the rule.

E is for excellent
The grade more might attain
With a little more work
And not too much strain.

F is for freshmen
The underclass group,
The whole senior class
Are flies in their soup.

G is for girls
Who wear the "new look,"
And try to catch the boys
By hook or by crook.

H is for high
The school we attend,
Making us stronger,
Both women and men.

I is for interest
In various clubs,
With meetings in school
And picnics with bugs.

J is for juniors
Who think they're so hot
Sometimes they're O. K.,
But sometimes they're not.

K is for "kramming,"
Which is commonly done
Before examinations—
There's no time for fun.

L is for Mr. Lasley
Whose spirit so gay
Still lingers in memory
And smooths the rough way.

M is for music,
Brought down from above,
Sung by our students
In moments of love.

N is for neatness
In work and in dress
All students must practice
If they wish to progress.

O is for ode
Our Southeast song,
We hope that its meaning
Will last on and on.

P is for pep.
The goal we attain
When we all keep in step
With our cheerleaders' aim.

Q is for questions,
Of judgment and thought,
Which are heard in all corners
But much later are sought.

R is for remembering
Our dearly loved school,
Never forget its lesson
Or its golden rule.

S is for seniors
The dignified class,
Who all of the juniors
Are afraid to "sass."

T is for teachers
Who really are swell,
They keep all their students
Under their spell.

U is for us
The Crusader Staff
Who work day and night
To give you a "laff."

V is for victories
Won by the team.
Our basketball boys
Kept right on the beam.

W is for work,
Which we love most of all.
It's what we all do
When we can no longer stall.

X is for x-ams
We would fain do without,
If we pass one with honors,
We give a loud shout.

Y is for youth
With its rosy-hued dreams,
When conquering worlds
Is a cinch—so it seems.

Z is for Zero
The grade we deserve,
But the teachers who give it
Have sure got their nerve.

JUNIOR SNAPS

In September, 1945, the pupils who would have entered the freshman class under the plan followed by the Kansas City, Missouri, Public Schools in former years, became the first eighth-grade class. Instead of a normal class of two hundred fifty pupils, only forty-two entered Southeast.

Through our freshman, sophomore, and junior years this class has remained about the same in number. Even though we are a small class, our program and activities have been the same as those of a larger class.

Having reached our junior year, we are confronted with the inability to publish an annual next year. A portion of this Crusader has been devoted to us, THE GRADUATING CLASS of '50. During our stay in the Castle we have gained much knowledge and inspiration, and we sincerely hope that we have made Southeast better by our having been here.

The Cooperative Occupational Education program provides an opportunity for supervised work experience while still in high school. This program is provided for the boy or girl who may not or who knows that he will not attend college. These students will have the privilege of making adjustment from "school to work" under the guidance and supervision of the coordinator.

In many cases the student is on a job which would not be available if he were not on this program. The coordinator visits the home during the summer and talks over the program and the student's possibilities before placing him. The coordinator makes job contacts for the student. During the school year, he makes periodic visits to the place of employment. During these visits the coordinator learns of the work progress of the student and what the school may do to help the student to become a more efficient worker. In related subject class, materials are discussed which are helpful in developing wholesome attitudes toward life and student experiences.

The program is open to students 16 years of age or over. Usually only seniors have met enough requirements so they may take advantage of the program. It is necessary to start planning in the freshman or sophomore year to get requirements out of the way. C. O. E. carries credit for work experience and related subject material in school. The University of Missouri accepts two units of C. O. E. as an elective toward entrance requirements. Many other universities and colleges also accept this credit as one of the electives.

The Penthouse Players, Southeast's Dramatic Club, is composed of students interested in play production and public speaking. Its selective membership is drawn from those who have participated in plays, radio broadcasts, assemblies, public speaking, and production crews, and have shown outstanding talent and interest.

The club gives its members additional training and experience in directing, producing, and staging as well as acting.

The variety of productions put on by the group has illustrated the theme for the 1948-49 season, "Variety." A one act play "The Happy Journey from Trenton to Camden" was the club's first production. Two radio shows were produced: "Sorry, Wrong Number" and "Movie Mother." The club also put on a program illustrating the development of present-day movie technique. The feature production of the season was a three act comedy for children, "Mr. Dooley, Jr." This play met wide success, and five performances were given.

The sponsor of the Penthouse Players is Miss Maria Theresa Feters.

The newswriting staff, starting inexperienced, successfully published the 1949 Tower. The class is under the capable direction of Mr. E. E. Hanan.

The group gained valuable experience in newspaper work as the Tower is operated in much the same manner as a larger paper. The stories were assigned and it was the job of the reporter to get the story, whether it was a sports story, feature, editorial, straight news story, or interview.

Everyone gained experience in headline writing, editing copy, and proofreading. The editorial staff worked diligently on the make-up of the paper. The editorial staff consists of the editor-in-chief, news editor, column editor, sports editor, advertising manager, and circulation manager.

The circulation manager distributes the Towers to the faculty and students. He also mails copies of the paper to outside subscribers, school officials, other schools, and advertisers.

The advertising manager is in charge of the ads. The whole staff worked hard to get ads to make the Tower self-supporting.

We expect to have as many members in Quill and Scroll as the classes of previous years.

"CRUSADER DAY!" Once again, the students and faculty of Southeast are presented with an annual depicting the highlights of life in the Castle. Mr. McMillan and Mr. Powell are given the place of honor on the beginning pages. Continuing through the book, one sees the various pictures and write-ups of the many organizations, productions, and clubs operating at Southeast. Yes, faculty and students, this is your book, your personal record of all the glorious times you've had during the year, your album of pictures of friends and familiar surroundings. However, this book doesn't just happen. It has to be planned, carefully and systematically, to assure a book worth having and keeping. The Crusader staff, under the excellent supervision of Mr. Don Tira, has charge of this work. The editor-in-chief has the responsibility of supervising the assembling of all the material that goes into the Crusader. The make-up staff, consisting of seven girls, helps the editor in this work. The assistant editor, in charge of the art work, also has an important responsibility. He is advised by Miss Martha Abbott, the faculty art editor. Pictures for the Crusader are photographed and developed by the photography staff under the direction of Mr. Roy C. Carter. Miss Anna B. Shouse proofreads the literary material composed by members of the make-up staff. Thus, the book progresses and becomes a finished product. We, the members of the Crusader staff, sincerely hope you enjoy the 1949 Crusader.

KNIGHTLITES

Ask anyone who saw it—either November 19 or 20—Knightlites of '48 was the biggest and best talent show ever to be produced within our Castle. Using the theme "Going Places," Miss Martha Abbott staged the production around the setting of a brightly painted steam engine designed by Julia Bolas and Muriel Trover.

As the curtains opened, the audience was greeted by an opening chorus of couples singing "Side by Side."

The senior girls sadly waved good-bye to Judy Keyes who was "going places" by train.

Ronald Davis, Bill Gresham, Richard Purdy, and Dan Saunders, with the aid of their trombones, took everyone on a toboggan ride into a "Winter Wonderland."

Cy Young persuaded a few girls to come with him in his "flying machine" with the promise that "up we'll go."

There is a certain sextet of senior girls who had still rather go places by Model T.

After hearing Donalene Nesbitt sing "It's Magic," we were all convinced we would be more than willing to go along with her on a magic carpet.

Without a doubt, there are four couples who believe in "going places" under umbrellas. Just ask Martha Carolan, Florence Flora, Evelyn Gish, Pat Hessling, Beverly Jones, Jean Beyer, Don Erickson, John Hilburn, or Tom Woodward.

"Go west, young man, go west" and after traveling there by buckboard, Pecos Bill and all his ranch girls were found singing "Buttons and Bows."

Bill Stevens appeared as the Maharajah of Magadore with his rubies, pearls, camels, and girls. Barbara Bratcher vainly tried to teach him the rhumba.

A merry pace was set to a good old-fashioned tune when the faculty sang "A Bicycle Built for Two." Those participating were the Misses Canham, Patch, Mosman, Pence, Perkins, Smith, Woodward, Sullivan, and the Messrs. Harman, Hanan, Tira, Cross, Griggs, Laury, Markley, Powell, and Smith.

The acme of the show was the circus number. With the band participating and the Betas acting as clowns, a background was furnished for the traditional circus barker (Bruce Pennington), acrobat (Wanda Wood), educated donkey (Lyle Phillips and Donald Hall), trainer (Kurt Young), and rivals (Don Erickson and Evelyn Gish).

After Richard McDonald told of "going places" in the American Way, the final curtain slowly closed while the entire cast sang "Where in the World, but in America."

"Love Your Neighbor" is a happy fusion of folk comedy and humor. Its characters are believable and lovable. Its situations, though dizzy as a Disney picture, are always probable, in good taste both artistically and morally.

Tessy Vashki, who loves her Iowa home town, is about to marry Ozzy Frederick, a Chicago glamour boy. The Vashki household buzzes with wedding preparations, a pair of vociferous twins, a tuba-playing kid brother, and of all things, bees.

The bees belong to Johnny Jones, an ex-marine, who moved next door while Tessy was away at college. A swarm from his apiary occupies the Vashki chimney. As Tessy is about to kiss her fiancé, one of the bees stings her on the lip. Indignant, Tessy telephones the ex-marine and gives him a piece of her mind.

Johnny arrives to render first aid, and recalling a remedy used on him as a boy by his mother, he surprises Tessy by treating her bee sting with a kiss.

Tessy and Johnny are getting on famously when Ozzy returns to find the ex-marine administering a second treatment by way of osculation.

Discovering that Tessy is engaged, Johnny assists with the wedding rehearsal. "Let them see what they're getting into," is his strategy. He goes in quest of a minister, but returns without benefit of clergy.

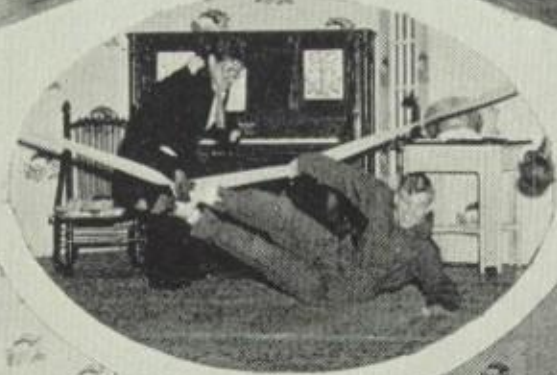

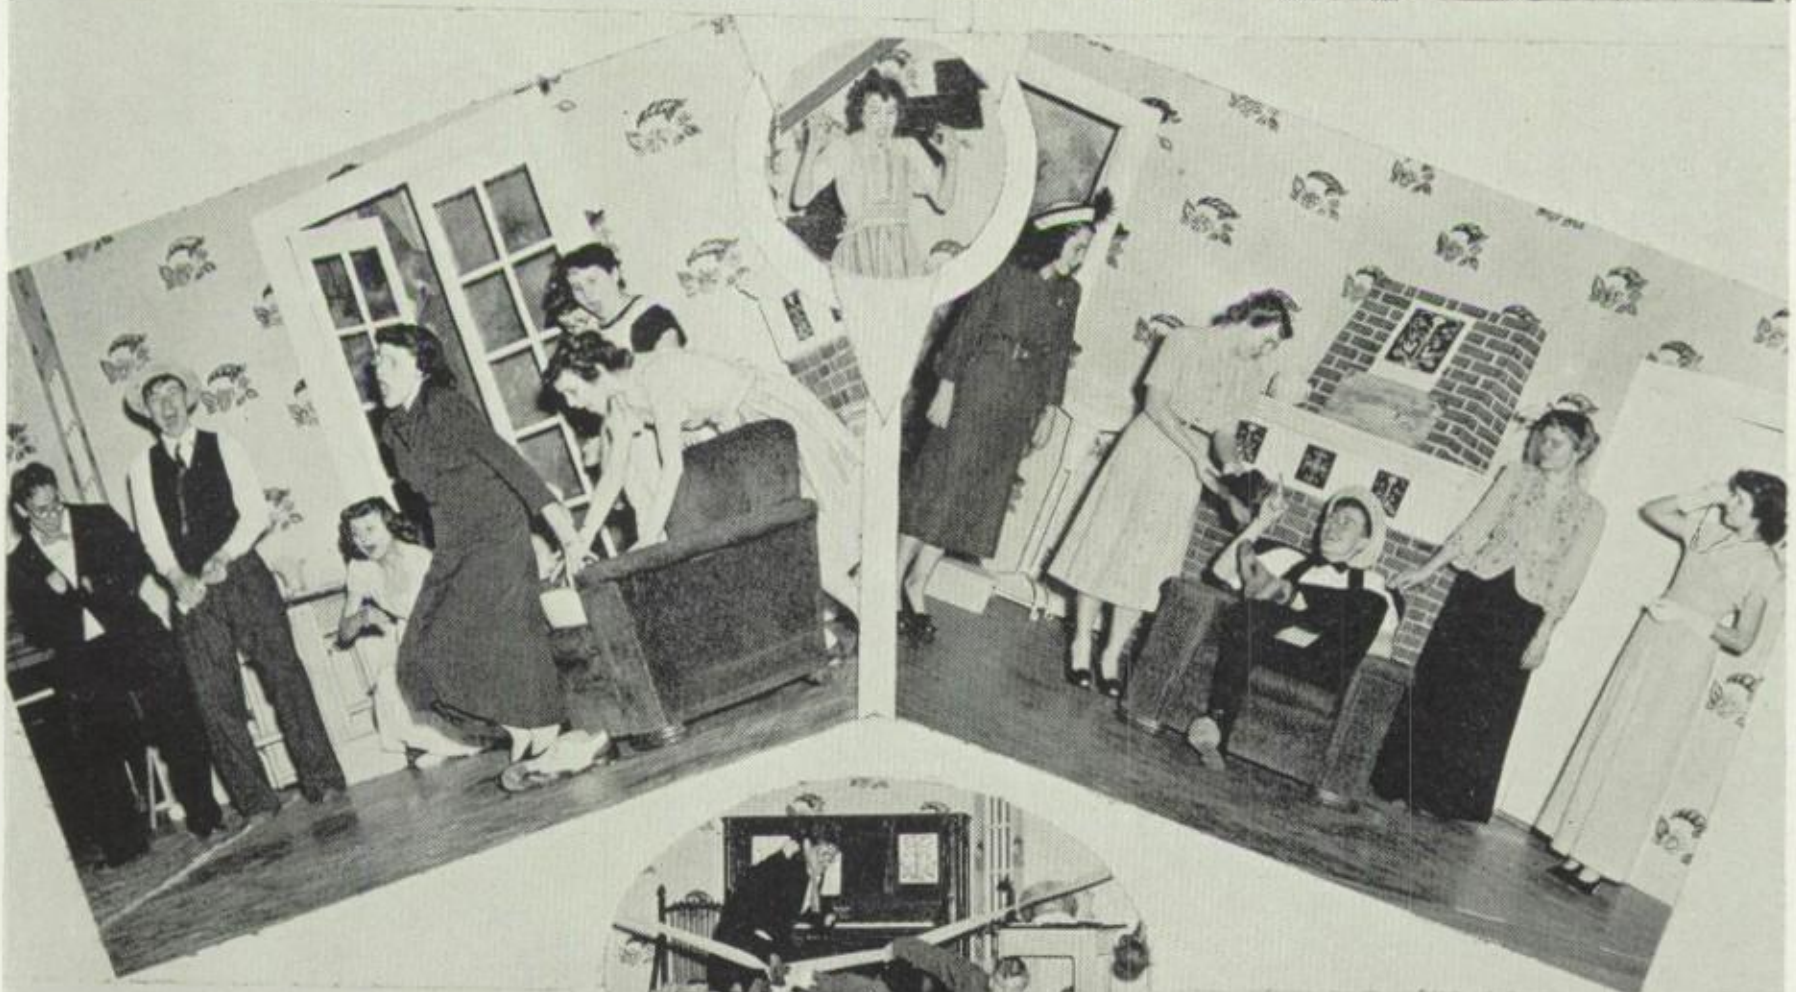

The wedding is further complicated by the discovery that Ozzy's aunt is unscrupulously trying to force Johnny Jones out of business. Tessy, outraged at this unfair treatment of an ex-marine, is ready to interfere when Dixie, a honeysuckle from the Deep South, arrives asking for Johnny who she supposes is her husband. At this, Tessy is a tempest. Johnny Jones will play her for a sucker, will he? All right, she'll marry Ozzy at once.

They are at the "I do" stage in the ceremony when Johnny, with a large, flappy beeman's hat and mask jumps out of the fireplace yelling for everyone to run for cover—the bees are loose.

The final scene involves a boxing bout, the fire department, and the return of Dixie to discover she has her Johnny Joneses mixed.

In the end, Johnny gets Tessy. Ozzy gets one of the twins he's been very much interested in all along, and the bees are smoked out along with everyone else.

One of our most worth-while departments is the music department. This year, under the excellent leadership of Mr. Ben E. Markley, the orchestra, band, a cappella choir, and girls' glee club delighted both students and faculty with their very enjoyable music.

The orchestra provided the musical background for our annual Knightlites production and the spring play. It also participated in the All-City Orchestra and the band and orchestra assembly.

At both football and basketball games, our team was enthusiastically supported by the band. On the radio program, "It Pays to be Smart," the band presented the music. It played a concert for the Business Men's Bible Class and it also marched in the Armistice Day and American Royal parades. Our band participated in the All-City Band Festival and played for various pep assemblies.

Southeast was represented at the All-City Choir Festival and over radio station KMBC by the a cappella choir. This choir sang at the Open House Program, Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter assemblies.

The girls' glee club, under the direction of Mr. Markley, sang in the Christmas program. Under the able supervision of Mrs. Wanda Musgrave, the boys' quartet, the boys' chorus, and the eighth grade chorus participated in the Christmas program, too.

One of the most impressive spring productions this year was the Festival of Music. The orchestra, band, a cappella choir, girls' glee club, boys' quartet, boys' chorus, and eighth grade chorus all contributed to its success. The proceeds from the festival of music go into the music fund for the maintenance and improvement of one of Southeast's most talented and outstanding departments, the music department.

FOOTBALL

WITH THE PROMISE of a good season, coaches Cecil Patterson and Vernon Griggs started early in September to work with the thirty-two boys of the '49 football squad. For a basis on which to build the team, Coach Patterson had six returning lettermen: Dave Hafley, Bradley Smith, Cy Young, Jim Middleton, Larry Mack, and Tom Higgins.

The first two grid battles were non-league games and the Knight eleven gained two victories. In the first game the Knights defeated the North Kansas City Hornets by a score of 8 to 0. This was followed the next week by a victory over Center High School, 19 to 12.

The league competition, however, proved to be much stronger and the Knights were scalped 18-6 by the Southwest Indians in the league opener. In the following tilt, the Knights fell before the terrific onslaught of the Northeast Vikings by a score of 20-0. After these two losses, the Knights were slated to go down under the East Bears, but in an especially thrilling game, Southeast held the Bears to a 6-6 score. In the fourth league game, the Knights were clawed under 13-6 by the Tigers from Westport, but rallied in the next game to tie the Central Blue Eagles in another 6-6 deadlock. The team spirit improved when Southeast won its first league game on the following week. Excellent teamwork won a victory over the Manual Red Birds with a score of 26-14. The Paseo Pirates, however, proved to be too much for the Knights in the league finale. Southeast was defeated 32-14 in this last game.

The team and the coaches are to be congratulated for their sportsman-like attitude and for some good, exciting football.

BASKETBALL

The Southeast basketball team won their first Interscholastic League championship this year. Excellent coaching by Mr. Adams, wonderful team spirit and fine shooting on the part of the boys were combined to bring to the castle the best season in the eleven years' history of the school. The final season record stood at twelve victories and five losses.

The season opened with a 34-22 victory for Southeast over Grandview High. The next week-end we journeyed to Lillis and were defeated, 54-26. The following night the Knights redeemed themselves by defeating Warrensburg College High, 44-43, in an overtime. Then Lexington gave the boys a 41-32 defeat. The traditional game with the alumni saw the varsity triumph in five quarters, 60-59. The league opener with East found the Bears absorbing a 37-35 setback. A fighting Central team was finally defeated, 36-32. The following evening our cagers emerged a 38-35 victor over the St. Agnes Stags.

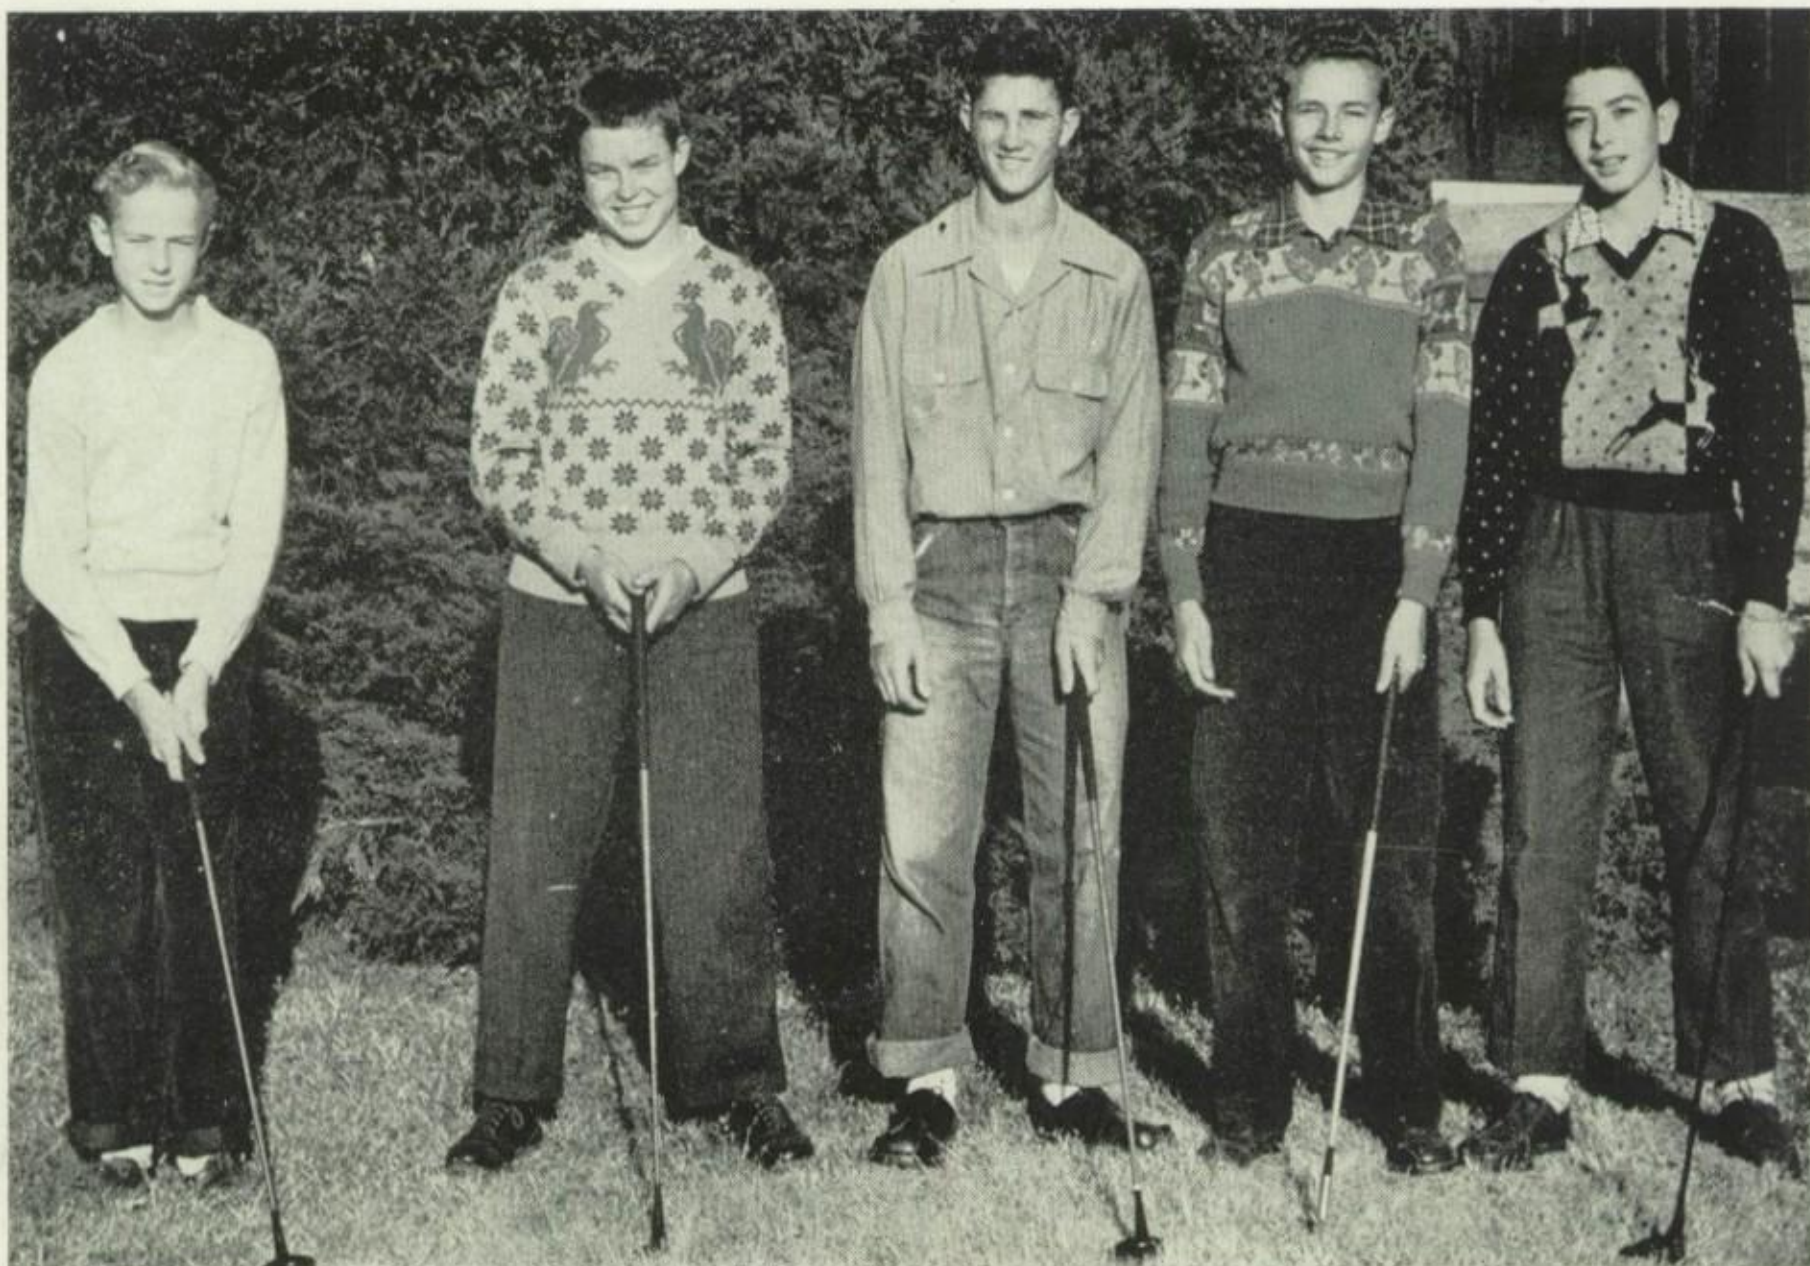

Our defeat over Northeast, 47-29, was the first indication of a championship season for Southeast. Our winning continued as Manual was trounced, 53-34. Then in a non-league game, the Knights were overcome, 54-21, by the Red Raiders of Pembroke Country Day. The Knights' fifth league victory was over Westport, 54-41. The crucial game of the year was against Paseo, but the Pirates were ship-wrecked, 43-42. In the finale, the Southwest Indians were driven back to their wig-wams, 34-30, and a perfect league record resulted for Southeast's outstanding team.

In the first round of the sub-regional tournament Southeast eliminated De La Salle, 51-39. However, the Knights were defeated, 61-47, by a fast-breaking Rockhurst team. Then the Paseo Pirates gained revenge in a return game, 50-49.

Wayne Anderson and Ed Ammon were unanimously chosen for first team all-stars. The remaining three of the five starters, Dave Hafley, Larry Mack, and Jim Tilsley were given honorable mention. Ammon and Hafley were the co-captains of the team.

We congratulate Mr. Adams, who after coaching our first-team this year at Southeast, produced the castle's first championship team.

MISSION: The mission of the Junior Division R.O.T.C. is to lay the foundation for intelligent citizenship within the student and give him such basic military training as will be of benefit and value to him and to the military service, if he becomes a member thereof.

COURSE: The junior course consists of formal military instruction of a general type applicable to the Army as a whole. This requires class work three hours per week for three academic years of not fewer than thirty-two weeks each year.

SUBJECTS: During the three years of the junior course the student is taught the following subjects: World Military Situation; Military Organization; Courtesies, Customs, and Rules of Conduct; Leadership, Drill, and Exercise of Command; Physical Development; Individual weapons and Marksmanship, including the M1 (Garand) Rifle, Browning Automatic Rifle, Carbine, Pistol, Hand and Rifle Grenades, Rocket Launcher (Bazooka), Pyrotechnic Projectors and Snipers' Rifle; Hygiene and First Aid; Maps and Aerial Photographs; Small Unit Tactics; Military Teaching Methods; Military History of the United States.

COMPETITIONS: A student may be awarded badges and medals for individual achievement; namely, Scholastic Ribbon—a 3.5 scholastic average for all subjects is necessary to win this award; Theoretical Ribbon—awarded each semester to the student with highest grades in each year; Neatness Ribbon—awarded to neatest First and Second Year Cadet in each platoon at end of each semester; Marksmanship Ribbon—scores of 160 out of 200 are necessary to win this award. The Chicago Tribune donates medals to be awarded to individual cadets for individual achievement at the end of each semester. Medals for unit achievement may be won on Field Day which is held near the end of each school year. Southeast Battalion placed First in Field Day in 1947-48. The Heart of America Legion Post awards a medal to the three outstanding cadets each year. This award is made toward the end of the school year.

RIFLE TEAM: The Rifle Team enjoyed a successful season. The team placed second in the City League, second in the City Match, second in the Fifth Army Match. The members of the first team are: Second Lieutenant Charles Heath (Team Captain), Major Allison Keyes, Corporal Robert Faith, Captain Edwin Happy, First Lieutenant Eddie Marmon, Corporal James Holt. Letter winners were Charles Heath, Ed Happy, Ed Marmon, Allison Keyes, Robert Faith, and Tom August (Manager).

GOVERNMENT INSPECTION: The annual Government Inspection was held in May, 1948, and the school was one of four in the city given Honor School Rating. Officers from the War Department are assigned to inspection teams for the purpose of inspection of all phases of training and instruction given during the year.

REGULAR ARMY OFFICERS AND ENLISTED MEN: Lieutenant Colonel William R. Dudley was assigned as Professor of Military Science and Tactics in Kansas City area. Captain Earnest B. Robertson was assigned as Supervisor of Southeast. Sergeant Robert G. Hanson was assigned to the school as an additional Sergeant. Master Sergeant G. J. Kerr remains as the Sergeant Instructor with the Southeast ROTC Battalion.

CADET OFFICERS: Sidney W. Hess was selected as the Cadet Regimental Commander with the rank of Cadet Colonel. This rank of Cadet Colonel is the only such rank in the Kansas City ROTC Regiment. Battalion Commander is Cadet Major Allison M. Keyes; the Company Commander is Cadet Captain Gerald E. Happy; Commanding the First Platoon is Cadet First Lieutenant Eddie Marmon; Commanding the Second Platoon is Cadet Second Lieutenant Arthur H. Ruff. Adjutant and Supply Officer is Cadet Lieutenant Thomas H. August; The Range Officer is Cadet Second Lieutenant Charles W. Heath.
